

Malone's Mechanical does what it does best

Malone's Mechanical, Inc. was incorporated in 1985 after the company had been doing business as Malone's Plumbing and Heating for 12 years.

"Mickey and I started the company in our garage and worked very hard to build a business that would give our four boys a place to work and the 492 wonderful, loyal employees we have had on many different projects during the past 25 years," Malone said.

"Our company has been very fortunate to employ the finest men and women in the trade and have proven that we are able with a "can do" attitude to handle a large volume of work on many different varieties of construction and industrial projects," Malone said.

Malone's Mechanical is an active mechanical contractor bidding most plan and specification jobs in this area, qualified in industrial, commercial and institutional work, specializing in plant maintenance and modification contracts. Capable of design build and can work within cost-plus, lump sum or time and material projects. Their expertise is in plumbing, heating, ventilation, air conditioning, equipment setting, all types of process piping, welding, utilities, insulation, sheet metal and controls.

After Mickey's death, the company continued to operate with the same people. The Malone's oldest son, Mike, stepped into his dad's position to manage the operations of the company and Mickey's wife kept doing what she had always been doing, bookkeeping.

Together they completely trusted God to give them the direction and wisdom they needed. "He has never failed to provide answers for us," Malone said. "I give all the glory to God who cares for our personal lives as well as our business."

Malone Mechanical recently celebrated their 25th anniversary and are anticipating the stability of the company to continue in maintaining the type of work they are now doing with the personnel and work force of the best qualified people in the field.

In looking to the future growth of the company, they are training plumbers and job foremen. With the attitude of wanting to do the best job they can, they are looking forward to continued success.